Raindrops Keep Falling on My Head
by B.J. Thomas

Raindrops keep fallin' on my head
Just like the guy whose feet are too big for his bed
Nothing seems to fit

Oh, raindrops keep fallin' on my head
Keep a-fallin'

Cause I just done me some talking to the sun
And I said I didn't like the way he got things done
Sleeping on the job

Oh, raindrops keep fallin' on my head
Keep a-fallin'

Into the Unknown
from Frozen 2

I can hear you but I won't
Some look for trouble while others don't
There's a thousand reasons I should go about my day
And ignore your whispers which I wish would go away, oh, Whoa

You're not a voice, you're just a ringing in my ear
And if I heard you, which I don't, I'm spoken for I fear
Everyone I've ever loved is here within these walls
I'm sorry, secret siren, but I'm blocking out your calls
I've had my adventure, I don't need something new I'm afraid of what I'm risking if I follow you

Into the unknown
Into the unknown
Into the unknown(Oh)(Oh)

A decorative border with intricate, swirling patterns surrounds the text.

We Will Rock You
by Queen

Buddy, you're a boy, make a big noise
Playing in the street, gonna be a big man someday
You got mud on your face, you big disgrace
Kicking your can all over the place, singin'

We will, we will rock you
We will, we will rock you

One beautiful spring morning Elsa was in her secret garden with her best friends Honey the Bumblebee and Tootsie the Cat. They were playing catch with a ball - one of their favorite things to do together!

After a while Elsa was tired and ready for ice cream. So she conjured some up and gave them to her friends! A cone of chocolate ice cream went to Tootsie, honey ice cream to Bumblebee and cookie dough ice cream for Elsa.

Everyone was sitting eating their yummy ice cream when all of a sudden they felt a little mist.

Honey buzzed, "Oh no, there's rain coming." But Tootsie replied, "No, I'm not going to think about rain. I can not believe there's rain coming."

All of a sudden they heard thunder and saw lightning in the distance as a big black cloud rolled toward them.

"Oh no," Elsa said, "We have to move to another place. We can't stay in the garden. We'll get wet!"

Honey agreed, "But where are we supposed to go?"

Elsa had an idea, "Let's go into the shed so we don't get wet!"

Everyone skipped to the shed and started to sing 'Raindrops Keep Falling on My Head.'

As soon as they were all inside the shed Elsa turned on a light. They could see a lot of stuff packed away in there. They noticed a shovel, some Christmas lights and even some buckets and stuff.

Elsa started walking around examining all of the different objects in the shed. "I have an idea." she exclaimed, "We're gonna have some fun while we're stuck in this shed."

Tootsie looked at her doubtful, "No, I don't think we're gonna have any fun. Look around. It's pretty boring in here."

But Elsa had an idea up her sleeve. And with that she started giggling and running around the room snapping her fingers and bringing all of the objects to life!

The Christmas lights turned on and danced all around. Then the shovel jumped up and turned around. He was very shy and looked very confused. "Where am I?"

Honey started flying around excitedly, "This is fun! I can't believe the shovel is talking!" Elsa was having so much fun making everything in the shed come alive! She started singing 'Into the Unknown' as all of the objects, Tootsie and Honey joined in.

While they were singing so many objects danced and sang along with them. There was a bicycle, a scooter, even a can of paint that opened its lid while a paint brush dipped inside and started painting beautiful pictures on the wall.

But then, out of nowhere, there was a loud crash of thunder and all of the objects quickly turned back to their original form.

Tootsie said, "This cat does not like thunder!" Honey flew over to the shed window and looked outside, "Oh no, it's raining harder and it's getting worse!"

Elsa was having a lot of fun dancing and singing but she could see how scared Tootsie was. She knew she had the power to stop the rain.

"I don't want you to be scared, Tootsie," she said as she went over to comfort her, "I do know one spell that stops the rain but you all have to help me or it won't work.

And with that Elsa yelled, "Abracadabra." And then she started singing 'We Will Rock You' as Honey and Tootsie joined in. After the last note of the song they stood there in silence waiting to see if the rain had stopped.

Honey flew back over to the window, "It stopped! We did it!" They could all hear the birds chirping with relief as they all ran out the door and back into the secret garden. They were so excited to be outside again and playing together!

Even though it was spring Elsa decided to surprise them with their favorite activity - making snow angels together!

She started rubbing her hands together and creating a beautiful pile of fluffy white snow!

They all started laughing, jumped into the huge pile of snow and began making snow angels together!

As they were laying down together in the snow Elsa noticed something in the sky, "Look everyone - a rainbow! What a perfect day!"
